How is this level of care different from being in the hospital?

- Assisted Living Communities provide assistance with Activities of Daily Living (ADL's) such as dressing, grooming, showering, administering medications, providing meals, transportation and monitoring activities to ensure health, safety and well-being in a home like environment
- Many assisted living communities also include a separate secured unit/neighborhood for those with Alzheimer's/Dementia
- Less risk of infection

How does the referral process work? Does this level of care require a physician order?

- Patient and or loved one can call or visit Assisted Living Community for information
- Nurse would come to patient and complete assessment to determine level of care needed at the community
- Hospital would then complete the physician's orders for Assisted Living prior to admission
- Patient can move in once assessment and orders are complete

How long will I need to stay at this level of care?

- Assisted Living facilities have short and long term options
- Some people may stay 2 to 4 weeks to recover after hospital stay or however long it takes for you to go home safely
- If you desire to stay and move in permanently you may do so and it's a 30 day month to month contract

Will my insurance pay for this level of care? What happens when insurance no longer covers this level of care?

- Private pay (out of pocket)
- Long Term Care Insurance
- VA benefits may cover a portion of cost
- Respite/short term stays are available to those that need up to a 30 day stay

What should I expect from this level of care? Who will take care of me? How often will I be seen by a physician or healthcare professional? What happens if I have medical issues?

- Assisted Living Communities provide assistance with Activities of Daily Living (ADL's) such as dressing, grooming, showering, administering medications, providing meals, transportation and monitoring activities to ensure health, safety and well-being in a home like environment
- Most are staffed 24/7 with licensed individuals including Registered Nurses, Licensed Professional Nurses, Certified Nursing Assistants, and Certified Medication Administrators that will be providing care
- You can be seen by in house physician regularly or transportation can be provided to physician appointment's upon request

What is expected of me at this level of care?

- Complete all necessary move in paperwork, family/resident participation in care plan meetings, work to recover independence, and remain self-sufficient as long as possible with the assurance of assistance when needed

What must I be able to do on my own or with family support to safely discharge from this level of care?

- Resident can go home at any time with home health, home care, hospice, or not need any care once independence is regained
- Resident do have the option of remaining in assisted living if preferred
