EMORY
HEALTHCARE

Veterans Program

Emory Healthcare Veterans Program is here to help you serve our nation's veterans and service members. Our two-week intensive outpatient program may be just what your veteran or service member needs. With a referral, our clinical team will chart a course of evidence-based treatment customized for each warrior that will put him/her on the path to peace of mind and his/her best life. With the warrior's consent, we will consult with you prior to discharge to coordinate the transition back to your care. Our program is free to qualified post-9/11 veterans and service members.

Who is Eligible?

Emory Healthcare Veterans Program currently serves military service members and veterans from anywhere in the United States who have served at least one day post-9/11 and are dealing with the mental and emotional after-effects of military service. Warriors are eligible for treatment regardless of discharge status, deployment history, or length of service.

What We Treat

Emory Healthcare Veterans Program takes a collaborative approach to healing. Our multi-disciplinary treatment team consists of psychiatrists, psychologists, sleep doctors, a clinical nurse specialist, social workers and a physician assistant. Our wellness team and veteran outreach coordinators provide additional support.

Assessment results map the course for individual care and may include treatment for:

- PTSD (Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder)
- TBI (Traumatic Brain Injury)
- MST (Military Sexual Trauma)
- Anxiety
- Depression

Life-Enhancing Treatment at No Cost

Service members and veterans receiving treatment from the Emory Healthcare Veterans Program incur no out-of-pocket costs associated with care, transportation, lodging, or meals. If insured, the program pays any costs not covered by the veteran's insurance. If uninsured, the program pays the entire cost.

Treatment Options

Emory Healthcare Veterans Program offers two no-cost treatment paths. Both pathways are offered in-person as well as via telehealth.

Intensive Outpatient Program

A two-week program that covers the cost of treatment, transportation, lodging and meals.

Traditional Outpatient Program

This option is better suited for those living in close proximity and are unable to dedicate two weeks for treatment.

Depending on each warrior's customized treatment program, the following services may be provided:
